PLAYERS GUIDE

The game of JSO Frenzy consists of ten report pairs, for a total of twenty targets attempted by the players.

The JSO Frenzy field has a total of eight traps. Two #1 traps, one positioned to the left and the other to the right of the shooter platform. Traps with the numbers #2 thru #7 are positioned throughout the outlined playing field.

Junior Shoot-Out Frenzy

Two shooters are positioned on the elevated platform with the left shooter calling for his targets first then followed by the second shooter. Each pair of targets always begins with the release of either of the #1 traps. If the shooter misses the #1 target with the first shot, he must use the second shot to break the #1 target. If the shooter breaks the #1 target with the first shot, then the #2 target is released, on the report of his firearm, for him to attempt. If the shooter breaks both targets, he is scored for the sum of the targets, which would be three points (The total of #1 & #2 traps.) Then the shooter on the right attempts the same pair. The shooters continue for the next pair, #1 & #3 and so forth up to #1 & #7 pair.

After the #1 & #7 pair, with firearms unloaded, the shooters switch sides on the shooting platform and the shooter with the higher score calls for the first of the four pairs in the bonus rounds. He may choose any trap for his second target. The #1 target is always the first target attempted in the pair. Then the second shooter, calls for his pair of targets. He may choose any trap for his second target also. After each pair in the bonus rounds, the shooter with the higher score calls first. In the case of a tie after each pair, the order remains the same until there is a lead change.

In the four bonus rounds, the #4 & #5 targets can be attempted only once by each shooter. All other targets are unlimited in the bonus rounds.

The maximum score for a round of JSO Frenzy is 65 total points. This requires the shooter to call for the #7 target in all four bonus pairs.

For the sake of safety, all firearms are to remain unloaded until shooters are in shooting position on the platform and ready to call for the targets. Only two shells are loaded into the firearm at one time. Firearms must be unloaded before changing positions for the bonus rounds. Always unload the firearm before entering and exiting the shooting platform.

FINALS

The finals will be shot on Saturday evening on Field #2. The finals will consist of the top score in each age group from Friday & Saturday. Top Scores from Friday will be published for returning to the Finals Saturday evening, Top Scores from Saturday will be selected, if a top scorer from Friday is also the top scorer on Saturday, the second place Saturday score will advance to the finals Saturday night.
